SIX VILLAGES NEWSLETTER

At your convenience?

Last winter my husband, Roy, and I flew around the world to find the sun and I don't think we could have chosen a better time to go. Travelling means we inevitably had to use lots of public loos in all sorts of places!

We asked our Sri Lankan driver several times to find a loo for us. So, he stopped at a shop and after negotiations with the owner I was shown to a loo at the back, presented with a loo roll on the way, escorted back out and got a "hard sell" to buy something before I could leave (a soapstone elephant). Later at a cafe called "The Thirst Station" I was escorted by a lady who opened the door, turned the taps on, and passed me paper towels.

Most Sri Lankan loos have a small showerhead next to them and I wondered why the loo seats were often wet and muddy until we visited the grand colonial Queen's Hotel in Kandy where there was a sign "Please don't wash your feet in here".

Waiting for our tickets to enter an elephant orphanage I saw a "Ladies" sign so rushed in. The lock was broken, it was a hole in the floor type (not sure of the correct way to use this but I managed) and by this time someone was trying to get in (balancing with one hand on the door). No loo paper either. There was a high level cistern but no water in it, only a small bucket and a tap on the wall so I could leave it in the condition I found it. The lady waiting outside was wearing a beautiful, intricately folded sari – how did she manage?

At the Fullerton Hotel in Singapore there was an electric loo – the lid lifted as you approached and the seat was heated as you sat down. A panel on the wall had a button to lift the seat and a range of wash and blow dry options – interesting!

In Australia we have found on previous trips that some restaurants have no loos but you have to walk to the nearest public one and in some remote places there is cold water, no soap, no towels (hand gel swiftly purchased).

In South Beach, Miami, we found a lovely French patisserie called "Paul". Their croissants and coffee were very good so we went back several times. The only drawback was the ladies: just the one loo which unfortunately wasn't attached to the wall or the floor so needed to be used with extreme care or there could have been a nasty accident (could I have sued?).

Wooden shacks or grand buildings – if you need to go ...

If you would like to see some of the photographs (views and wildlife mainly) from our 3 1/2 month trip you can read our blog at patroyblt@blogspot.com (scroll down to December 2017 to find the first posts)

Old Buckenham WI – Many years ago we met with New Costessey WI and since then we have joined together for one meeting a year. It was Old Buckenham's turn as hosts at the August meeting.

After a buffet supper, the speaker, Sue Sursham, described her Trans Siberian Railway journey (with excellent pictures), she and her mother took in winter to avoid the crowds. This railway was instigated by Tsar Alexander II and was completed in 1915 by Tsar Nicolas II. Starting in Moscow with visits to St Basil's Cathedral, familiar onion domes surmount chapels to different saints, and department store Gomme which rivals Harrods. On to Kazan, Tartarstan's capital whose Kremlin is a world heritage site, then to Yekaterinburg and Irkutsk where they had their coldest day of -36C and visited Lake Baikal, the world's largest freshwater lake. After a detour to Ulan Bator in Mongolia (they lunched in an Irish pub) they arrived in Vladivostok at the end of the 6618 mile journey.

Next meeting: Thursday 25th October at 7.30pm which is Old Buckenham's birthday. Thanks to everyone who supported the recent Open Produce and Handicraft Show. Visitors and new members welcome. Contact Pat on 01953 452604 for more info.

Breckland Flower & Garden Club – September began with a visit to RHS Wisley. Four hours quickly passed, strolling the gardens, watching flower demos, admiring the wonderful display of Dahlias. Thanks to everyone who helped arrange the trip. At our monthly meeting Melanie Collins the guest speaker gave her talk titled "Hostas". It was a very informative and interesting talk describing Hostas – "a bit like Marmite; Love them or hate them". The competition: Foliage Design using Hostas was won by Maxine Mace and the table show "Harvest a selection of fruit and veg from the Garden", by Christine Hewson.

The raffle was drawn in aid of our NNUH Breast Cancer Charity, (reaching over £4000 pounds in just 6 months). 26th October 7.30pm : Flower demo at Eccles Village, tickets £8 (open to everyone) with proceeds to the charity.

Next meeting: 11th October. A demonstration by Lorraine Scott "Floral Fusion. Non-members are always welcome cost £6.

Who can get free school transport?

Some 5-16 year olds in Norfolk will qualify for free travel. This depends on how old your child is, which school they go to, where they live, and whether they have any special educational needs or mobility issues. All applications are assessed against the criteria set in our Home to School Transport Policy. Please visit <https://www.norfolk.gov.uk/education-and-learning/school-and-college-transport/home-to-school-transport/who-can-get-free-school-transport> for full details.

Tackling the Budget Gap

The Council's medium term financial strategy had identified savings of £78.5m for the next four years, leaving a gap of £94.6m. This was due to a range of pressures including the expected loss of Government funding in 2020 and growing demand for social care. Now, the Council has devised plans to reduce the gap, leaving £45.3m to find. The Council is due to consider its latest budget proposals next month, so that committees can discuss them before the full council meeting sets the budget and council tax in February 2019.

News from Breckland District Council

Breckland landlords need to prepare for new HMO legislation Breckland Council is working with the district's landlords to ensure local rental properties remain safe and comply with changing government legislation. From October, landlords of any residential rental properties which have two or more households and a total of five people or more will need to apply for a house in multiple occupation (HMO) mandatory licence.

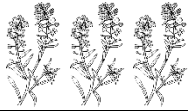

As part of the licence application Breckland Council will ensure the home is suitable and the landlord is a fit and proper person to run the property. In recent years there has been a growth in the multiple occupancy homes across the UK, so it is important that we make sure they are correctly licensed and are appropriate for the number of tenants.

Previous legislation required only HMOs with 3 storeys to be registered but the new legislation will be extended to all residential rental properties of multiple occupation. The HMO licence costs £399 and will in most circumstances last for a period of 5 years. More information for landlords at www.breckland.gov.uk/HMO

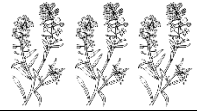

Breckland Rough Sleepers In August the Government launched Sleeping Rough Strategy. Breckland has seen no increase in Rough Sleepers in the district recently, and although we have not done a count for a couple of weeks. we expect it to be under 10. If you know of any Rough Sleepers would you please report them to me.

Garden Jottings from Ken

If you're new to gardening and thinking about choosing plants for your plot you may feel in need of a crystal ball to show you how your creation will look once it's finished and also in future years. Are the plants you like going to be happy to play their part in forming the garden you want, not only in terms of their size in time, but also is the position that you intend to place them in ok - will it be bright enough, is the soil suitable, do they require a bit of shelter from strong winds, are they hardy... and can you look after them?

Now you could go for the easy option of buying a few choice plants that catch your eye and simply shoving them in, then wait to see what happens, but this approach is a bit risky and often results in disappointment, leading to the conclusion that you haven't been gifted with green fingers. However, with a little bit of understanding your dream garden can slowly become a reality. If you're not sure about something then ask for advice, we're happy to help and we know a lot about plants, so if you're looking to fill a gap or even a whole border, call in, we always have a wonderful range of East Anglian sourced plants in stock and access to thousands of others, plus all you need to grow them and set them off to their best!

If your garden is capable of growing weeds then it's capable of growing something much more ornamental with just a little bit of effort. Shrubs are great in creating structure, and once established they're generally the easiest to look after, followed by hardy herbaceous perennials, a good mix of these will provide you with a long lasting succession of flowers year after year, they're the stalwarts of cottage gardens.

If you fancy a more contemporary look you could try combining perennials with some beautiful and airy grasses, or grow bold clumps in large pots or barrels, but don't forget to feed and water plants in containers regularly!

If you can spare some extra time to look after bedding and basket plants they're worth the effort as they're packed with lots of flower power to enjoy, they may only last one season but for sheer exuberance you just can't beat them, with glorious choices for any time of year!

Cheers Ken,

A View from the Rectory - October

I like St. Luke's gospel as he writes in a storytelling style I warm to and his Book of Acts is a nice read too. He is described by St. Paul as 'the beloved physician', which is interesting because Luke was a Gentile, a foreigner, but he knew a lot about Judaism, the religion of Jesus, and I'm sure their friendship benefitted them both. St. Luke's Day is the 18th October and services on this day often include prayers for healing, as will ours in Old Buckenham, 7.30pm.

I have problems with praying for healing sometimes, particularly for the elderly and infirm. Am I praying that they are restored to the vigorous health of a 30-year-old? Would I feel my prayers unanswered until they were? There is a healing that is deeper than the eradication of a bodily ailment, as illustrated one time when Jesus, faced with a man on a stretcher, prayed for his sins to be forgiven rather than 'healing' him. Another time he asks a blind man, what can I do for you? Wasn't it obvious? Perhaps there was a bigger problem to be dealt with. Healing may bring the eradication of the problem, but it can also be a process that enables us to deal with the reality of our condition, or with what is happening, to us, bringing the ability to find peace and healing while, say, aging, or going through a terminal illness or dementia. Medical science alleviates the effects of our conditions but there is a healing needed inside from the weight lying heavily upon us.

If would like us to pray for you, we offer prayer and the laying on of hands for healing on the day we remember St Luke, 'the beloved physician' in All Saint's, Old Buckenham, 18th October at 7.30pm.

Saturday 6 October – On Chesil Beach - Based on the novella by Ian McEwan, it is the story of Florence and Edward (Saoirse Ronan and Billy Howle), young university graduates getting married in 1962. She is a talented and ambitious classical musician from a well-to-do family and he is a clever young man from humbler origins. Both have first-class degrees and, in consequence, no small opinion of themselves. The wedding night is a painful, intimately humiliating fiasco with devastating consequences.

Saturday 10 Nov (tickets £4.50 on the night, £4 in advance) - Journey's End

Set in a dugout in Aisne in 1918, it is the story of a group of British officers, led by the mentally disintegrating young officer Stanhope (Sam Claflin), as they await their fate. The main focus is on the conflicted character of alcoholic Captain Stanhope, whose six-day command encompasses a major offensive, but when old school chum Raleigh is drafted into his unit routine events become emotionally messier. The acting is stupendous, with Sam Claflin raising his game in the star role as the embittered alcoholic.
